Corsicana Made Greater City Today As Expansion Program Becomes Effective

Today Corsicana is a bigger city, bigger by about 7,500 persons. The annexation program adopted by Corsicana's voters in a recent election becomes effective today with its publication in the Daily Sun.

As a result of the enlarged city limits the following will become effective:

Lower insurance rates will be enjoyed by all Corsicans as soon as the State Insurance Commission is provided with a new map of the city and sets the new rates. The map is being prepared under the direction of City Engineer Fred V. Blucher.

Those persons living in the annexed areas who have been connected with the city sewerage system no longer will be assessed $4 per month for the privilege. Police and fire protection be-

Britain Unlikely To Get American Financial Help

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—Great Britain seemed likely today to get American sympathy, and not much else—in her newest financial plight.

Members of congress generally reacted coolly to the announcement that Britain is down to her last $1,642,000,000 in gold and dollars. Their general observation was that the problem was one the British will have to solve for themselves without increased U. S. financial aid.

In diplomatic circles, Secretary of State Acheson displayed a tendency to discount the British situation somewhat.

He said that, like an individual whose income is cut off, Britain was cutting her purchases. He added this was an unfortunate temporary necessity, however, and not a permanent situation.

Unless congress changes the figure, England will get $200,000,000 in Marshall Plan aid this year. That was taken into account by the committee, he said.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the senate Republican policy committee, told reporters he thought the $200,000,000 as the limit of aid.

"The British have a planned economy and it just hasn't worked," he said. "They'll have to think of their own way of doing something else. We can't be expected to give them any more help than we already have."

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), a member of the appropriations committee, said, "We have been pouring out our money to them for years and they are in worse condition than they were when they started." He said, "I don't think they will get any help until they change their Socialist government."

America Had No Atom Bombs When AEC Took Over

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said today the United States had no atomic bombs in 1947, when the Army turned atomic projects over to a civilian commission.

He declared the commission "didn't find any bombs—the models had been used up."

McMahon tossed this out at a Congressional hearing after an Army general said there has been a "complete model change" in the bomb since the AEC took over the project.

How many bombs this country now has and the production rate of bombs are closely guarded secrets.

Brig. Gen. James McCormack, Jr., director of the AEC's military application division, also said that all production bottle-necks "worthy of serious concern" now have been broken and weapons production is on a "stable basis."

McCormack testified at the Senate-House atomic energy committee hearing that the AEC has been "incredibly mismanaged" of atomic projects under the AEC and its chairman, David E. Lilienthal.

In a general denial, Lilienthal and the AEC contend that, on the contrary, the project was "bogged down" when they took it over and has been infused with new life.

Texas Decontrol Law Subjected To Legal Scrutiny

DALLAS, July 7.—(AP)—Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods is sending his top attorney to Dallas to study Texas' new rent decontrol law.

General Counsel Ned Dupree is scheduled to arrive today. His job will be to determine whether Texas' rent decontrol law conflicts with Federal rent control acts.

President Leaves Decision Of Labor Legislation To Leaders In Congress

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—President Truman today said that he has left up to the Democratic leadership in Congress the decision whether to continue the fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act at this session.

The President said he is still interested in making the fight for repeal one of his campaign pledges.

He said he discussed with Congressional leaders earlier in the week whether to take up labor legislation in the House. The Senate has passed a bill dominated by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), raising the question whether a bill acceptable to the administration can go through.

Democratic leaders, the President went on, are considering whether to take up the measure in the House and they will make the determination of it.

As to whether he would like them to continue the fight, he said he certainly would.

He would not comment on whether he would accept a compromise along the lines of the Sims bill.

The Sims measure was a compromise backed by administration forces in the house in an effort to save some features of the administration's T-H repealer. It made some concessions to forces which want to retain most of the present law.

After it failed, the whole matter of labor legislation was referred back to the House labor committee.

Texas Refinery Closed As Result Of Labor Dispute

PASADENA, Tex., July 7.—(AP)—Crown Petroleum Corporation shut down completely today. Company spokesman blamed a "new type" of sitdown strike by employees.

A spokesman for Local 227, Oil Workers International Union (CIO), denied there was any sitdown. He said the company closed the plant is a lockout.

The company representative said employees sat at their jobs for several hours yesterday, writing and reading grievances. The company's contract with about 350 members of the union expired last Thursday.

Company officials said some 1,200 grievances had been filed since Monday. It said only one or two could be classified as legitimate complaints.

These officials said about 20 employees appeared at a plant office at 10 a. m. Monday and asked to be heard on grievances. When company officials declined, the employees remained in the office several hours. Company spokesman said negotiations with the union had been underway since June 7, but the union broke off the conference July 3.

Few details of Monday's action at the plant were told, but Police Chief E. W. Payne of Houston said he learned that the plant was shut down by a sitdown strike. Payne said two policemen went to the plant, but that company officials would not prefer charges against the employees.

Bill To Register Voters Restricts Texas Primaries

AUSTIN, July 7.—(AP)—You'll have to be a Democrat in January if you want to be a Democrat at the polls in July under the new registration system proposed for the state.

The system was finally enacted by the legislature yesterday. It will become operative only if the voters Nov. 8 adopt a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax requirement for voting.

The bill, by Rep. Frank Olcott of Marlin, calls for every person to declare his party affiliation when he registers. That affiliation will be entered in indelible ink on his

15-Year-Old Boy Admits Slaying Of Small Child

CHICAGO, July 7.—(AP)—A 15-year-old boy told police today he strangled and hanged a neighbor child. He gave the statement a few hours after his younger brother retracted a story in which he said he was the killer.

Police Sgt. John Trinka announced that Robert Munday gave an oral statement of the slaying of a three-year-old Thomas "Whitey" Laux, who lived in the same South Side flat building with the Munday.

Robert said his 13-year-old brother, Charles, knew about the killing and made a statement to police "to protect" Robert. Both boys are held without charge.

Detective Chief Timothy O'Connor said Charles told him he strangled Thomas with his fingers, then hanged him by a clothesline over a basement window.

After a rest of five minutes in the questioning, O'Connor reported, Charles denied having anything to do with the killing.

"I didn't do it," the boy was quoted by the chief. "I was just nervous when I said I did."

The Laux and Munday families share a two-flat frame house on the South Side. Charles' mother, Edith, discovered Thomas' body stuffed in a sack in the basement this morning, ending an all-night search for the missing boy through South Side neighborhoods.

Leo Foch, assistant state's attorney, who, with O'Connor and other policemen questioned Charles at the detective bureau, said the boy

WELCOME ISSUED

In the past it has been the custom for the Chamber of Commerce to issue welcome letters to all of Corsicana's new citizens.

However, Manager Herman Brown, today is issuing a blanket welcome to all the citizens who live in the newly annexed areas.

"We have always considered them a part of Corsicana in an unofficial way, and now we are glad they belong," said Brown. He added, "We wish we could send them all a letter of welcome but it's too big a job for our office to handle. So I'm taking this means of extending our welcome to Corsicana."

Grasshopper War Temporarily Ends Threat Of Plague

DENVER, July 7.—(AP)—The war on grasshoppers in Wyoming and Montana has "temporarily" put down the threat of a plague. But in Nevada, an outbreak is spreading.

Jim R. Dutton, U. S. grasshopper control division chief, emphasized the word "temporary" in an interview today on the results of an airplane poison-spreading campaign against the hungry insects.

If the Wyoming-Montana "hopper" armies had been left alone, Dutton declared, they would have

Hiss Perjury Case Presented Jury After Long Trial

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—The Alger Hiss perjury case went to the jury at 2:20 p. m. (CST) today.

The 10 men and two women began deliberating the fate of the 44-year-old former state department official after a 57-minute charge by Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman.

Hiss is charged with lying when he denied to a grand jury that he ever delivered secret government papers to Whitaker Chambers, self-described ex-courier for a pre-war Soviet spy ring, or saw Chambers' wife, Elizabeth, or saw Chambers' story "beyond a reasonable doubt."

U. S. Faces Major Steel Strike In Wage Controversy

PITTSBURGH, July 7.—(AP)—The nation today faced the threat of its first major steel strike since 1946.

U. S. Steel Corp., industry bellwether, yesterday said "no" to demands of the United Steel Workers for a fourth round wage increase and for company financed pension and insurance programs.

The union immediately called a July 13 meeting of its wage policy committee to consider a possible strike July 16.

Contract negotiations were recessed indefinitely.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the Steelworkers, told a press conference:

"They (the Steel Corp.) merely say no to the union and they say so with an air of complete finality. x x x The conference are deadlocked."

The present contract has almost a year to run. It was reopened this summer on "trial" basis, and insurance. The contract permits a strike if no agreement is reached by July 16.

A statement from U. S. Steel covered the union demands this way:

Wages: "We are convinced that no sound reasons justify an increase at this time."

Pensions: "We propose that this issue of whether or not the contract can now be re-opened by the union on this subject be presented x x x to the board of conciliation and arbitration for decision."

Insurance: "The companies (six U. S. Steel subsidiaries) continue willing to arrange x x x for insurance benefits x x x but only on the express understanding that the cost of such insurance shall be shared equally between the companies and the participating employees."

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, said in New York today that business now is "badly hurt" by the industry across the land, nothing could be more damaging to the economy of the nation than generally to increase labor costs at this time.

Present wage for steelworkers is $1.69 an hour.

Vice Consul At Shanghai Beaten By Communists

American Is Held Incommunicado By Red Authorities

SHANGHAI, July 7.—(AP)—Vice Consul William E. Olive, Ironton, Mo., was held incommunicado by Communist Shanghai police today following his arrest as a result of a traffic jam during a parade.

An American consulate spokesman said he had learned Olive was beaten seriously by police in a "wildside" station following his arrest.

All efforts by the consulate to obtain Olive's release have been ignored by police who refuse to stipulate the charge against the American official. Consulate officials expressed anxiety that Olive may be in a serious condition.

This later information was obtained by the consulate:

The incident began when Olive drove a consulate jeep towards a gasoline station and got entangled in a jam around the parade marking the eve of today's anniversary of the Japanese war.

Taken to the nearest police station, he accidentally knocked over an ink bottle during questioning. Interpreting this as "resistance," several policemen knocked him down and kicked and mauled him where he sought to defend himself. He then was handcuffed and thrown into a cell with several other prisoners.

This occurred about 3 p. m. Wednesday. Olive has been held incommunicado ever since.

Truman Declares Solon's Argument To Be Absurd One

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—President Truman declared today it is perfectly absurd to say that the administration "will" or "intend" to make the President the commander-in-chief, such a thing could not happen.

A reporter had told him that Congressman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee had raised the dictatorship argument against the bill advocated by Secretary Johnson.

Mr. Truman said that was a perfect absurdity. He said the Armed Services committee yesterday that the services be slipped from under the law permitting the President to reorganize the executive branch of government.

The Georgian said he wants to prevent the establishment of a single military chief of staff or a general staff over all the Armed Forces.

"We want to make it so no man ever can become a military dictator in this country," Vinson said.

High Rewards Are Being Offered In Thornton Case

AMARILLO, July 7.—(AP)—Rewards amounting to more than $4,000 have been offered for information leading to conviction of the killer or killers of W. A. (Tex) Thornton.

A young man and woman who came to the tourist court with Thornton the night of June 22 are sought by police. The couple left later that night. Thornton's car hours before his body was found. Thornton's diamond ring and money were missing.

The Amarillo News-Globe offered a reward of $1,000. Individuals built it up to $3,045. The Amarillo Times has also offered a $1,000 reward.

Many hitch-hiking young couples have been arrested for questioning, but released.

One Suit Against Valley Financier Held In Abeyance

McALLEN, July 7.—(AP)—One of the lawsuits filed against Rio Grande Valley financier, Sam L. Miller, while he was on a trip to Guatemala, has been suspended. The suit asked recovery of an alleged $75,000 in notes, Judge W. R. Blalock of 83rd district court in Edinburg suspended action on the suit indefinitely.

The suit asked recovery of the Hidalgo Packing Co., the Hidalgo Distributing Co., and Mission Foods, Inc., to satisfy $97,000 in claims.

Orville Cox, McAllen lawyer, said the suit was asked the suit be suspended "because we felt that

51st Legislature Establishes Record For Spending Money And Passing Bills--But Work Unfinished

AUSTIN, Tex., July 7.—(AP)—The 51st Legislature called it quits yesterday after passing more bills and spending more money than any other legislature in Texas history—but it will be back again within six months.

Return of the 51st to next session by January 1950 is assured. The people of Texas may vote for annual sessions beginning next January or Gov. Beauford H. Jester will call a special session.

The legislature will come back to provide a state building program, to give eleemosynary institutions operating funds for the second year of the biennium and to take action toward keeping the state out of the red. Jester has made it plain he thinks a new, "sound" tax bill will be necessary.

Compromise Old Age Pension Plan Presented To House And Senate

A compromise old age pension plan was presented to the house and senate. With the ceiling on state payments lifted, pensioners would have had to give the state mortgages on their homesteads.

Exemptions of $1,250 and $2,500 would have been allowed for single pensioners and for married couples, respectively.

Rep. Lamar Zively of Temple believed the needy aged would favor

Constitutional Amendment Because, According To His Figures, Only About 17 Per Cent Would Be Affected By The Mortgage Provision

He said 68 per cent of the old people own no property and 17 per cent have homes valued at less than $2,500.

A total of 1,801 house and senate bills were introduced during the 177-day session, the longest in history, and approximately 635 were passed and sent to the governor for signature.

Proposed constitutional amendments were adopted for submission to the people.

This was the greatest number of bills ever passed at a single legislative session. By comparison, 477 of 1,335 bills were finally passed two years ago, and 19 of that number failed to become law.

The governor has until 30 days after the end of the session to sign or veto the large number of bills yet to reach his desk.

Declaring the session finally adjourned yesterday afternoon, Mansford said he did so "both with a sense of regret and a commendation to you for a job well done."

"I believe this was the hardest working legislature this state ever had," the house speaker said in a brief valedictory. "The work of this session has been nothing short of a miracle."

"I believe that in ninety-five per cent of the cases you have answered the demands of the people of Texas in an economical way," Mansford declared.

Dulles Appointed To Fill Wagner's Senate Position

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today appointed John Foster Dulles, his veteran foreign affairs adviser, to the United States senate as successor to Robert F. Wagner.

Dulles will serve an interim term until Dec. 1. A senator will be elected at a special election Nov. 8 to serve for the balance of Wagner's term from Dec. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1950.

Dewey said it was "unlikely" that Dulles would run in the Nov. 8 special election as the Republican nominee.

Motion Is Filed Opposing Contest Of City Election

A plea of Amicus Curiae was filed Wednesday afternoon in the case of Robert Vardele Yarber vs. City of Corsicana, contest of election by E. R. Simmons, local attorney.

Yarber attacked the recent municipal elections in which the boundaries of the municipality were extended and provided for future extensions, set the tax rate, and divorced the city schools from the city.

The plea filed by Simmons alleges that the suit instituted by Yarber complained of "The City of Corsicana" and "City of Corsicana" which there "is no such creature in fact or in law." Simmons also attacked the election contest petition in that the "plaintiff fails to alleged whether or not the defendant is a corporation and the action should be dismissed whether or not the defendant has a legal residence in Texas."

Simmons also claims that a citation served on Mayor Hubert T. Branson is not sufficient to require the defendant municipality to answer in this cause since the four commissioners of the city commission constitute its governing body.

"Wherefore, as Amicus Curiae, it is suggested to the Court that service has not been completed in this case, that the City of Corsicana, Texas, has not been properly cited in its correct name, and that the action should be dismissed and the citation should be quashed," the plea concluded.

A. P. Mays, judge of the Thirtieth Judicial District court, said Thursday that neither the original petition nor the plea of Amicus Curiae had not been presented before him. The original petition was filed June 28, 1949.

Henry Wins Ennis CC Golfing Title In Monday Match

Johnny Henry, former resident of Corsicana and winner of the 1948 Corsicana Country Club golf tournament, annexed another title Monday afternoon when he defeated Louis Baldrige for the Ennis CC title.

Henry defeated Baldrige 6 and 5 in the final. He defeated Lloyd Pool in the semi-finals.

Henry won his golf letter at Texas A. and M. four years in a row, one year of which the team won the Southwest conference title.

Other flight winners at Ennis were Pete Barney, first flight; Ned Haynes, second flight; Hubert Self, championship consolation.

Bobbie Atkeisson Is Hurt Tuesday

Bobbie Atkeisson, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Atkeisson, 208 North Nineteenth street, received scalp and other minor injuries about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon near his home when struck by a car. He was rushed to the Corsicana Hospital and Clinic for treatment in a Corley ambulance.

Harsford Jackson Burks, 317 West Third avenue, was the driver of the car involved in the accident, city police said, who quoted witnesses as saying the mishap was unavoidable. The child was reported to have been crossing the street at the time.

registration receipt and he will not be permitted to vote at the primary election of any other political party.

"Independents" could vote at the general election only.

Registration must be done annually, between Oct. 1 and Feb. 1. Each county will be permitted to levy a registration fee up to 50 cents—half of whatever is levied going to the state. Whether any fee is levied or not is strictly optional with the county's commissioners courts.

Payment of a registration fee under the law would not excuse a citizen from paying his poll tax, even though the poll tax voting requirement might be abolished by adoption of the constitutional amendment. The amendment proposes to abolish only the voting requirement—not the tax itself.

State officials and legislators were both skeptical that many would pay such a poll tax, however.

Whether voters over 60 years of age and those just reaching 21 would be exempt from paying the registration fee as they are now exempt from the poll tax payment would be a matter for the commissioners courts in each county to decide.

cost to be met by the federal government and the balance by local communities. The bill provides $1,000,000,000 in loans and $500,000,000 in grants to states and local public bodies.

2. Requires local authorities to select the low-income occupants of the planned $10,000 public housing units, and set the rent at what these families can pay. The federal subsidies would make up the difference between the rents and the amount needed to pay for the housing projects.

3. Divides the farm housing program into three parts. The first part provides long-term loans at not more than 4 percent interest to owners of self-sustaining farms unable to obtain financing elsewhere. The second part sets up a similar loan program, with annual federal contributions, to owners whose farms were not at the time self-sustaining. The third part provides loans for minor improvements on farms that could not be made self-sustaining.

4. Sets up a research program to find cheaper ways of building homes.

5. Provides (a) a 60-day extension of temporary government authority to insure loans by private lender up to $2,500 for repairing and remodeling existing structures; (b) a 60-day extension of authority to insure mortgages for construction of small homes costing up to $5,000; and (c) a $500,000,000 increase in the amount of mortgage insurance that the government can issue for single family and multiple dwelling units.

August, when the Presidential campaign was in full swing.

Stryker pointed out that all signs at that time pointed to a Republican victory, and "the (Chambers) chose what he thought was the strongest side."

Stryker accused Chambers of trying to gain power by getting in with the winning side.

"He could have been quite a prominent man in the successful party," the counsel said.

Any competent lawyer, Stryker declared, could have learned that "Whittaker Chambers came down to Washington to commit perjury."

"What they (the committee) had there was a perjurer in the middle of a presidential campaign," Stryker stormed.

"Alger Hiss—Dumbarton Oaks—Yalta—Communism!" he cried. "Great stuff for a political campaign."

Hiss, as a State Department officer, attended the Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta and San Francisco United Nations meetings.

The defense lawyer pounded away on the prosecutor's statement in the trial that "if you don't believe Chambers, then we have no case."

Chambers' accusations were what brought Hiss to trial.

Hiss—disputing Chambers' claims—denied before a New York grand jury that he ever passed government secrets to Chambers for a prewar Soviet spy ring.

He also said he never saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937, prior to the time when the secrets were supposed to have changed hands.

The grand jury then indicted Hiss on two counts of perjury involving these denials.

gave this statement, then later retracted it.

Late yesterday afternoon Charles asked Tommy about the whereabouts of the Munday kitten. Tommy told Charles he did not know, but a little girl told Charles that Tommy had put the animal in an automobile parked in front of their house.

Charles grabbed Tommy and took him into the basement where he placed his fingers in Tommy's throat and strangled him. Then he hanged him to the rafter.

After cutting the body down, he hid it under some rags in the basement.

When the police came to the house last night, Charles became frightened, put the body in an Army barracks bag and hid it in "some weeds" near his home. Later this morning, becoming more frightened, he took it to the basement.

"Whitey's" body was discovered early this morning by Mrs. Edith Munday.

On the door of the basement was a crude chalk inscription, "Hang Noose Club." Scrawled on the building was a chalked picture of a gallows and a human head.

Rope burns were found around the child's neck. The body, fully clothed, was stuffed head first into the bag.

Operatives of the police crime laboratory found two stub ends of clothes line, each about four inches long, thrown over a joist; the stubs had been cut.

The basement also yielded a scrap of cardboard on which were penciled drawings of a large shield with pictures of a noose, a dagger, a small hatchet and a man's head.

Mr. Miller if left to operate, can work out his problem."

The Hidalgo Packing Co., meanwhile, resumed full operation—canning pineapple under the management of R. B. McLeish of Waco.

Miller said last Wednesday that getting the plant back into operation would be his second step toward settling his troubles. He said his first step had been making good payroll checks for Mission Foods employees.

Miller said then the Hidalgo Packing plant had been forced to close because payroll accounts were tied up by the suits while he was away. He said the plant had met pay days before closing with money not tied up by suits.

A. W. Taylor, Miller's attorney, said McLeish, long connected with the packing plant, would manage it at the suggestion of creditors who said Miller had overworked himself in trying to operate all his enterprises.

Three plaintiffs asked the receivership.

The City State Bank and Trust Co. of McAllen asked $20,000, alleging failure to pay a $15,000 60-day note dated Feb. 4, 1949.

The Brownwood Citizens National Bank asked $30,000, alleging failure to pay a $25,000 demand note dated March 1, 1949.

Lee M. Green of San Juan asked $20,000, alleging failure to pay a $15,000 demand note dated Nov. 30, 1948. He also asked $27,000 for alleged failure to pay a $22,500 demand note dated Dec. 4, 1948.

been as destructive as the locust swarms in the 30s that laid waste millions of acres of croplands from Canada to Texas.

"We have killed a whole lot of grasshoppers and saved lots of range grass," Dutton said. "But the million and a half acres we sprayed represent only the primary danger area."

"Outside that area are millions of acres of infested land on which the 'hoppers are multiplying at a terrific rate."

On these lands, he said, many farmers and ranchers are attacking grasshoppers at their own expense.

The U. S. department of agriculture is furnishing supervision and in some cases point brand.

The USDA started the unique aerial campaign against 'hoppers with a $1,000,000 appropriation. Congress now is considering another, larger emergency fund.

But in Nevada, where there was no campaign, herds of full-grown migratory grasshoppers have crossed the northwest border on a 70-mile front into the fringes of California and Oregon. Moving two to six miles a day, they now cover about a million acres.

He said Texas ranchers had done a swell job of helping themselves by buying and spreading their own toxic materials. Farmers killed many of the 'hoppers in the foothills before they could invade the valley croplands.

Dutton said the destruction of ranges in Montana and Wyoming has caused some "distress" sales of cattle.

A good food store must be a clean store.

We believe our customers are entitled to top quality food at low prices, served in clean, healthful surroundings.

That's why we train and instruct our employees to keep all trays and cases and scales scrubbed and sanitary; to keep refuse and packing cases out of the aisles and off the sidewalks; and to keep floors and grocery racks clean and orderly.

Sometimes during rush periods it's hard to keep a store as neat as it should be. But that's our job, and you will be doing us a favor if you will let us know if your A&P store ever fails in any way to measure up to our high standards of cleanliness. Please write:

Texas Radio Stations Preparing To Voice Opinions Under New Ruling

DALLAS, July 7.—A new voice of opinion—radio—is easing its way into state and local issues in Texas.

The steps are cautious ones, but some broadcasters are keeping an eye on such controversial matters as the approaching 1950 elections.

The Federal Communications Commission relaxed its rules early last month to give radio stations the right to express their individual thoughts on public affairs. Formerly such a privilege was confined by law to radio commentaries.

A number of Texas stations already have started plans for regular editorial programs.

The Associated Press surveyed 32 representative broadcasters in every section of the state.

The indicated trends were:

One—The FCC move is welcomed widely by Texas radio. A small number do not favor the move.

Two—Close to one-half of the 32 stations surveyed have definite plans for programs voicing the station's opinions. Some already have such programs underway.

Three—Stations in the smaller towns generally plan a more aggressive editorial program than those in the large cities.

Four—There is some hesitancy as to how far they can go in "editorializing."

W. P. Hood, vice president and general manager of KFDX, Wichita Falls, spoke of the "present uncertainty as to interpretation" of the FCC ruling.

"A radio station is more properly a conduit. But if editorialization were clearly permissible and circumstances made it desirable and advisable, we would not hesitate to take a stand," he said.

An operator of a chain of regional stations, who asked that his name be withheld, said: "I strongly believe that radio stations should have the right to editorialize—and I also believe that the industry will be making a mistake should it not exercise that right."

Another official also asking to be unidentified, said he thought the FCC action was a "mistake."

But most of the surveyed broadcasters voiced enthusiastic approval.

The National Association of Broadcasters had long fought for such a ruling.

Len Johnson, news director of KWKD, Abilene, said, "I believe one of the main reasons for the use of the editorial on the air is the opportunity that is presented to radio to fulfill its duty of enlightening and educating its listeners—not to get people to think the way the station believes they should think, but to ferret out information that should be brought to the attention of the public."

KGAF, Gainesville: "The future of every radio station in small towns depends on the healthy business and social life of that town. Therefore, it behooves us to investigate every controversial idea which arises... Evaluate it through research, and then take what action seems necessary... Station owners have expended time, money and effort... They have the right to protect their own future."

Cotton Fanning, news editor, KSEL, Lubbock: "The authorization of editorial comment on radio stations adds another listener benefit, and places radio in a much more favorable position to compete with the newspaper as a public servant."

Roy Terry, owner, KOCA, Kilgore: "This means a radio station

BOYLE'S Column

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—Are you a highbrow or a lowbrow?

This is the biggest question today in the salons and saloons of Manhattan.

The controversy was started by a light-hearted article in Life Magazine. It classified the "brow level" of people by their tastes in food, furniture, clothing, drinks and literature.

Do you like Stravinsky with your meals or a light white wine? That tabs you, Mac.

Did you buy a new black posture chair for the living room, lady, or did you come home with an overstuffed sofa on your back, you old lowbrow? Either way, sister, we know what you are.

Why, it's got the whole town going culture crazy. Here in the middle of a heat wave some men would drop dead of sunstroke rather than change from their tweeds into seersucker. Tweeds, can be first rather than secondary in a community."

Wayne Phelps, manager, KHUZ, Borger: "Glad to know we have the right to editorialize!"

Ken Duke, manager, KDDD, Dumas: "We are most grateful for the privilege inasmuch as we feel there will be issues on the local and national scope, where we will exercise this new right of broadcasting."

Next: What Are Stations Doing About It?

doncha know—and you'd better know—are a highbrow.

Office receptionists still read Faith Baldwin—but they wrap the book in a dust jacket from the latest novel by Jean Paul Sartre. He's a genuine 24-Karat French highbrow existentialist, he is.

The bartender draws a foamy glass of beer, and whispers, "would you mind taking it in the back room? They say it's a lowbrow drink—and the boss wants to keep this a classy joint."

The cop on the beat hauls in a drunk, and the sergeant says, "throw him in with the other bums."

"But this man says he drinks nothing but an adequate red wine," protests the cop.

"Oh, the sign of a real highbrow," says the sergeant. "Show the gentleman to a private cell. By the way, sir, I'm a red wine man myself. Which you find most adequate to the palate?"

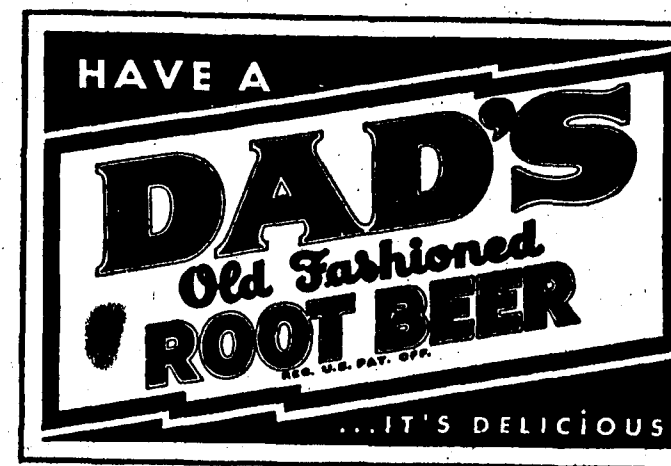

Well, boys, this is it. The real class war is on now, the true blue snobbery based on the altitude of the brow.

Personally, I'm going to sit out this latest cultural war. The lowbrows will probably lose, because if they start drinking an adequate red wine the highbrows will immediately decide beer is better. For a highbrow can't stand to be in the majority.

Child Dies.

McALLEN, July 7.—(AP)—A seven-month-old child, Jose Miranda, Jr., died yesterday in McAllen Hospital of burns. His father said the baby crawled into a fireplace Tuesday.

State Home, IOOF Children Have Big Fourth Of July

Boys and girls of the Corsicana State Home and the Odd Fellows Home observed the Fourth of July holiday with several recreational events during the past three days.

The Odd Fellow kiddies enjoyed a picnic at the City Park Saturday afternoon, July 2.

Monday morning the boys of the State Home and Odd Fellows Home played an exhibition football game and joined together in refreshments afterwards on the State Home grounds.

Monday morning at the State Home water carnivals were held at the pool for the small children and the intermediates with prizes going to the various winners.

During the noon hour a dinner of fried chicken was served and a party followed.

Monday afternoon all the children attended a movie in Corsicana and returned to the Home to eat watermelon on the grounds. That night a water carnival was held for the large boys and girls at the pool.

MR. AND MRS. MERLE HERRINGTON

BETTY JOYCE SCHLEMMER IS WED TO MERLE HERRINGTON IN CEREMONIES AT HER HOME

Dr. Erwin F. Bohmfalk officiated at a ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Betty Joyce Schlemmer, daughter of Mrs. B. F. Schlemmer and the late Mr. Schlemmer, and Merle Herrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Herrington of Waxahachie. The vows were exchanged Friday evening at the bride's home, 821 North Twentieth Street.

An array of gladioli and softly glowing candles formed a background for the ceremony, in which the bride wore a white pique suit with chartreuse lace accent and a white straw-lace picture hat. Her other accessories were white nylon gloves and navy blue and white spectator pumps. She carried a purple throated orchid showered with colored carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Alma Lee Anglin was the bride's only attendant. With a chartreuse frock, trimmed in lace, she wore a neutral straw picture hat and bag and brown and white spectator pumps. Her flowers were daisies, worn in a corsage.

Mrs. Schlemmer, mother of the bride, chose a chartreuse two-piece frock, wearing at the shoulder a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Herrington, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a pink and white crepe frock. Her flowers were blue carnations.

SIMPLE FAITH SETS SPIRITS TO SINGING PILGRIM SONGS

Ancient Religious Songs Sound Theme Needed Today—Life's Modern Tensions Call For The Counterbalance Of Faith And Worship—Deathless Songs Of The Ages

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS.

Kings may send forth their armies and watch their progress, but the man who writes can never follow his words. They go forth to conquer, to comfort, to inspire other lives totally unknown to the author.

If this is true of ordinary writings, how much truer is it of the inspired writings of Scripture. A nameless host of gifted men produced them over many centuries. Today, they lie on the shelves like a dark pathway to comfort the sorrowing, to give courage to the faint of heart.

For some weeks, Sunday school teachers in ten of thousands of churches of the United States and Canada will be reading their pupils to see the beauty and significance of the Psalms. These precious writings—most of them brief in extent—have expressed for millions the deepest sentiments of the broken, the bewildered, the aspiring, the exultant, and the worshipful. They have echoed in stately music in St. Peter's and thousands of other cathedrals; they have resounded in the catacombs and caves; they have been the daily bread of the Jew as a last place; they have strengthened the hearts of singing soldiers going into battle.

A Chosen People. The one hundred twenty-second and the one hundred thirty-fourth Psalms were, in the days when the Jewish temple was standing, the marching songs of the exultant pilgrims going up to Jerusalem to worship. "Exultant" is the word which indeed expressed their mood. The Jews were, and are today, a people whose religion comes before everything else in life. God chose them to be His oracles to mankind whereby He could reveal His will to the needy human heart.

In ancient times, Jews from all over the Mediterranean world made pilgrimages to sacred Jerusalem at the time of certain feasts. They sang as they marched. As they approached the Holy City they broke into the most ecstatic songs. Here their hopes centered. Here were the sacred symbols of that religious faith to which they clung through life and death as their most precious possession. Centuries later, when the temple was no more, the pilgrims came or being hurried away in vans to be shot or asphyxiated by the ruthless servants of "the master race" sworn to wipe every Jew from the earth. And in those dark days, in the days when Herod's temple was still standing, God was their hope, support and joy.

Seven Sentence Sermons. A church-going people are apt to be a law-abiding people.—Park. What greater calamity can fall upon a nation than the loss of worship.—Emerson.

Ay, call it holy ground. The soil where first they trod. They have left unstained, what there they found.—Hemans. Freedom to worship.—Hemans.

The created world is but a small parenthesis in eternity, and a short interposition for time between such a state of duration as was before it, and may be after it.—Sir Thomas Browne.

I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord.—Psalm 122:1.

Be noble! and the nobleness that lies In other men, sleeping, but never dead. Will rise in majesty to meet they own.—Lowell.

I shall pass through this world but once. If there be good things, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show, let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again.—William Penn.

The Sunday School Lesson for July 10 is, "Pilgrim Marching Songs," Psalms 122:1-134.

Kerens Musicians Present Program At Lions Meeting

Rev. Henson and Darrell Mabry, both of Kerens, brought the Corsicana Lions a musical program at the club's brief weekly session Tuesday at the Navarro Hotel.

Pianist Henson and Singer Mabry brought a pleasing mixture of light classics with popular music and boogie.

Mrs. Mabry sang "Indian Love Call," and "I Wish I Didn't Love You So." and Henson played "The Man I Love," "Body and Soul," and rendered "You Always Hurt the One You Love" with such expertise that he was called back for "The House of Blue Lights."

O. B. Ballew and J. F. Adams brought the program for the day, and Earl Boyd and Harold Blankinship were named to the program committee for the July 12 session by Chairman Ray Walker.

The club secretary reported a profit of $235.93 on the recent picnic dance sponsored by the Lions at the airport here. Refund of the prize won by the Promenaders of the club fund brought the total to $280.93.

President Leighton Dawson appointed Mrs. Sam Werners as club pianist and club sweetheart for the coming year, and lauded her for pianistic duties during the past.

Annual Memorial Service Planned

The annual memorial services will be held at the Hopewell Cemetery near Navarro Friday, July 15. The program is scheduled to start at 11 a. m. with Jack Bressie, chairman, in charge.

Lunch will be served during the noon hour.

Club News

ROLLED BALE..

PACKAGE FOR GREEN LEAVES

Leaves are sealed within the bale, safe and dry. Rolled bale is convenient to handle — will not buckle.

Hay unrolls into a wide, soft, leafy mat, appetizing to livestock. Can be fed whole in feed rack without waste.

Roto-baling is entirely automatic. The tractor operator is the entire baling crew.

For the first time hay can be baled without mowing or slicing. Hay is rolled up like a rug, tied with ordinary binder twine. Retains the quality of loose, leafy hay. Bale is weather resistant, easy to feed, easy to handle. The Roto-Baler is the only machine that makes a rolled bale.

Competition Will Be Keen—

Corsicana Fair Opens September 27 For 5 Day Exhibition; Championship Rodeo Is Feature; Offer Many Prizes

By DON MORRISSEY
Daily Sun Staff.

On Sept. 27 Corsicana's Livestock and Agricultural Show will open its gates for the 13th annual exposition. Premium books have been prepared and distributed, and fair officers are now getting ready to accept entries in the more than 30 departments for white persons and the 10 divisions for negroes. Closing dates for various departments vary between Sept. 10 and Sept. 28. All exhibits must be in place by Sept. 26.

The fair opens on Tuesday and will run for five days and nights. A feature of this year's exposition will be the annual Texas Championship Rodeo, which will be presented each night at 8 o'clock. The rodeo finals will be held Saturday night.

Each day of the fair has been designated as a special day. The event opens on Tuesday with children day. All school-age children are admitted free to the grounds on that day.

Opening Day Parade. The opening day includes a parade in downtown Corsicana at 10:30 a. m., and the opening at 11:30 a. m. and special attractions will be presented at 1:30 p. m.

Wednesday will be agricultural day when judging will be completed in three divisions. Hereford cattle will be judged at 9 a. m., agricultural exhibits at 10 a. m., and special attractions will be presented at 1:30 p. m.

Thursday will be agricultural day when judging will be completed in three divisions. Hereford cattle will be judged at 9 a. m., agricultural exhibits at 10 a. m., and special attractions will be presented at 1:30 p. m.

Friday will be negro day, and all negro school children will be admitted free to the grounds. Dairy cattle will be judged at 9 a. m., the junior dairy show will start at 11, and swine will be judged at 1 p. m. A negro-day parade will be held in downtown Corsicana at 2:30 p. m. and special negro music and entertainment will be provided at 5 p. m.

Club Auction Sale. The club auction sale will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday, and special entertainment will be provided at 8:30 p. m. The Texas Championship Rodeo finals will start at 8 p. m.

Schafers "Just for Fun Shows," featuring new rides and shows, will be in the midway and in operation during all open hours of the exposition.

The livestock department will be under the direction of W. H. Walker. All entries in this division will close at 6 p. m., Sept. 15, and must be on the grounds not later than 9 a. m., Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Exhibitors in all divisions must keep their animals or displays on the grounds until 9 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 1.

The committee in charge of Hereford will be Maurice Burnett, chairman; R. L. Harris, Wayne Miligan and E. R. Strube, Jr. There are 22 classes in this division and prizes include ribbons for the first three places and cash prizes of $30, $20, $10, $10 and $10. The reserve champion and reserve champion bulls and females.

Brahman Cattle. G. M. Boyd will be chairman of the Brahman breeding cattle division. Ribbons will be awarded the first three winners and cash prizes of $30, $20, $10 and $10 will go to the first places. The champion bull and female will get $25 and reserve champions will be awarded $15. There are 22 classes for registered breeding cattle and four for crossbred Brahman beef cattle.

The club steer show will be handled by W. C. Henderson, chairman; Ray Brooks and Bill Love. This department is open to any regularly enrolled 4-H club or sacks, and canned products. Ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded. The prizes range from $3 to 80 cents.

The fine arts department will be run by Mrs. J. V. Noble, chairman, and Mrs. F. E. McPherson, co-chairman. Open classification cash prizes will be $2 and $1, while the student and amateur classes will receive cash prizes of $1 and 50 cents.

Mrs. D. H. Bennett will be chairman of the women's home demonstration club department. Educational exhibits will be headed by Mrs. Elzie Armstrong, chairman; Mrs. Elrie Doyle, Mrs. Lennie Strange and Mrs. A. E. Gaddy. Each club meeting fair requirements will be awarded $25 and ribbons. Entries must be filed by Sept. 1.

Mrs. Kyle Briggs will be chairman of the individual entries department and she will be assisted by Mrs. John Decker, Mrs. S. A. Beeman and Mrs. Herbert Bush. Ribbons will be awarded. In charge of the exhibits department will be Mrs. Buell Robinson, chairman; Mrs. John Decker and Mrs. R. E. Ross. Cash prizes will range from $3 to 50 cents.

Mrs. Thomas Logg will be chairman of the 4-H club girls' department. Mrs. Bert Kilcrease will be chairman of the textiles division, and Mrs. N. H. Hardgrave will be chairman of the foods section. Cash prizes will be $1, $3 and 50 cents. The best 4-H exhibit will be awarded $25.

Negro Department. In the negro department, S. P. Walton, negro county agricultural agent for Navarro county, will be in charge. Judges will be C. A. Walton, Dallas, and H. A. Odum, Fort Worth.

Community sweepstakes prizes will be $10, $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50. Rudolph Hines, Chester Thomas will head the general agricultural exhibits. Cash prizes in this division range from $5 to 50 cents and ribbons for third place. Thomas E. Walters and Odie Bryant will be in charge of the boys' exhibits.

Ernestine C. Young, negro home demonstration agent, will be general chairman of the home demonstration club department. The judges will be Ethel E. Haynes, Dallas county; Janice M. Morgan, Limestone county; Mary H. Reed, Ellis county, and Ezelle C. Gregory, Tarrant county.

Sweepstakes prizes of $10, $7.50 and $5 will be awarded the best clubs. M. B. Dobbins will be chairman of the canned products division, assisted by Essie Langston, Edna Hicks and Frankie Miller. Cash prizes of 75c and 50c will be awarded for first and second and a ribbon for third.

M. J. Hines is chairman of the textiles group, assisted by Lucinda Coy and Mary Smith. Cash prizes will range from $1.50 to 75 cents.

Ernestine C. Young will be chairman of the 4-H club girls' department and will be assisted by J. B. Bryant, chairman; Jimmie Porter and M. E. Rhoe. Cash prizes range from $1.50 to 50 cents.

Officers of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show are: J. N. Edens, president; J. O. Burke, first vice president; Will Thompson, second vice president; F. H. Harvey, Jr., treasurer; Herman Brown, general

Public Junior College Program Meets Urgent Need, Rep. Stockard Says

Editorial Representative Jerry Stockard told Corsicana Citizens Thursday that the public junior college program today answers an urgent need for a shorter, more practical education.

The 51st legislature, Stockard pointed out, appropriated a record-breaking sum for education this year—some $60,000,000. "The question is," he said, "the program worth it? I submit to you that it is, because of the many boys and girls we all know of who never would have gotten college educations if it had not been for junior colleges," the legislator asserted.

Junior colleges serve two groups, Stockard said. They serve those who do not care for a degree and who merely want to take a technical course to aid them in making a living, and they serve those who go to a junior college as a preparatory school for a degree at a four-year college.

He pointed out that, of the 32 tax-supported junior colleges in Texas at present, none have ever ceased operation. Deatur Baptist College is one of the oldest such institutions in the United States. Texas junior colleges have had manager, and W. H. Walker, general superintendent.

The board of directors includes J. P. Adams, H. R. Strube, John Corley, J. N. Edens, J. O. Burke, W. C. Strube, Max Wolens, John C. Calhoun, S. J. Miles, R. L. Wheelock, W. M. Spear, J. M. Dyer, B. L. Sanders, N. Suttle, Robert J. Edens, A. P. Mitchell, F. H. Harvey, Jr., J. Afton Burke, Will Thompson, Joe L. Butler, R. L. Wheelock, W. C. Strube and Herman Brown.

All privileges, concessions and amusements will be under the control of the fair management. Concessionaires should contact Herman Brown, general manager, for space.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Come Back Here

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Davis, former Corsicanans, have returned after a residence of several years in Waco. They are now guests of Mrs. T. B. Kirkham at Kirkwood.

Mrs. Davis has been serving as cateress at the Lake Waco Country Club for more than three years, while Mr. Davis has been instructor at the West Junior High School for six years.

The couple plans to build on the Elmwood property they recently purchased.

Mrs. Davis, who held the position of hostess caterer of Kinsloe House several seasons, and who served in this capacity in Corsicana for many more years, is to be associated here in business with Mrs. Kirkham.

Corporation Court

M. K. Burleson, Concord, reported to police Wednesday the theft of several articles of clothing from his car while it was parked in the 200 block of South Benton street.

Officer Kelly found the front door unlocked at the Sam Wil son barber shop and locked same. Officers Powell, Higginbotham and Pickering arrested a negro for investigation.

Four persons were fined for parking violations and officers tagged 10 vehicles for the same offense.

Officer Brown issued a ticket to a motorist for running a red light and for driving without a license.

vice to the schools, church and community, they were presented with a lovely chest of Sterling silver. The presentation of this gift in the nature of a farewell was done by our good friend and neighbor, John Calhoun of Corsicana.

FREE COLLEGE EDUCATION

Argentina has accomplished by decree what many nations dream of doing. All tuition and related fees have been abolished in the six major universities of Argentina. There are certain flaws in the Argentine accomplishment, chief of which is that the national government has taken control of all the universities. But at least money or the lack of it will no longer be a critical element in deciding whether or not an aspiring youngster can attend a university.

On what basis will students be chosen? President Juan Peron said higher education should be available to all Argentine youths who "wish to educate themselves for the good of the country." This suggests that political considerations will enter into the decision as to which young people will get the advantage of the available facilities. It might be far better to leave selection on a financial basis. It is frequently easier—and perhaps more honorable—for a young person to earn money than to earn political favor.

In the United States there is a universal desire to make college education available to a greater number of people, by reducing financial limitations to the minimum. It was clearly shown by the experience with government-financed education of World War II veterans that any step which greatly modifies the system of financial selection will strain present college facilities to the bursting point. Some system of selection other than the financial one certainly is desirable, but what should it be? Certainly it should not be political. Probably it should be based on the ability to learn and to apply knowledge, but better tests of that ability are needed. As we work toward wider educational opportunities, we should work also toward keener selection of students.

SAVING TAX MONEY

There is a difference of opinion in the Senate over whether Congress or the president should bear the onus of trimming government spending, brought on by discussion of a bill which would call on the President to make cuts of five to ten per cent in all government appropriations for the new fiscal year. One group of Senators has been circulating a petition to bring the proposal to a vote, others are against it, arguing that the responsibility for trimming costs should be assumed by Congress and not dropped in the President's lap.

In their way, both groups are right. The President, through his authority over the executive branch of the government, has wide power to control the expenditures of government. Most chief executives have hesitated to use their power to reduce expenditures arbitrarily, being content to let the departments and agencies spend the money appropriated by Congress. The proposal to make a flat percentage cut on all appropriations is admittedly unscientific, but there are few if any of the government units which could not get by despite the cut.

At the same time it is properly the job of Congress to fix the amount of government appropriations, and it would be passing the buck to call on the President to cut them. If Congress should pass the measure calling for the flat cut, taxpayers would cheer, but at the same time they would probably give Congress a cold look which would ask: "Why didn't you do it yourselves?"

BALLAD FOR FATHERS.

Bread for the table and cake and pie.

Costs of rubber against the sea.

These all fathers are asked to buy

Again and again and again.

Fancy dresses and garments plain.

Cowboy suits for the lads to wear;

Table cloths jelly is sure to stain—

That's how the money goes and where.

These are the days when costs are high.

Every attempt to save seems vain.

Shirts wear out as the days go by.

Sole upon shoes don't long remain.

Pills are needed for ache and pain.

Fragile are glass and chinaware.

Question all fathers and they'll explain.

That's how the money goes and where.

Boys want kites in the spring to fly.

Frocks are needed by Grace and Jane.

Doing fathers must these supply.

And whether the wish be mad or sane.

Only the grinchiest dads complain.

Though many are happy such needs to share.

Just the kiss at the door they gain.

That's how the money goes and where.

Refrain.

Better the smile than the sorry sigh.

Better to grant than the wish deny.

Better at last to have them declare.

That's how his money went and where.

There is no good reason why Congress and the President should not tackle the job of cutting costs. If they did, something might get done.

SPREAD OF PENSIONS

A century ago or even fifty years ago few American citizens would have dreamed of pensioning office holders. If the idea had been broached, the response would probably have been two fold: "They don't deserve it, for they are all lazy loafers; and they have probably feathered their own nests so well that they don't need pensions."

Now we know that neither idea is necessarily true. There are plenty of shirkers and political appointees, but there are also great numbers of serious, hardworking officials who do valuable work. There will be more as cities pay better, and make more provision for retirement.

It is good news therefore to hear from the International City Managers' Association that 981 American cities with populations of 10,000 or more have retirement plans in effect for their employees, in whole or in part. These are forethoughtful communities, which are not giving way to sentiment when they install pension systems, but are recognizing that a human policy of retirement allowances is good business.

GETTING LOST

For every tourist who ever became lost in Washington, D. C., it must have been as refreshing as a cup of cold water to read the other day that Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, who has been there thirteen years, lost his way in the Capitol.

The tourist who finds himself suddenly going the wrong way on a one-way street in some strange city can take fresh heart. Maybe he didn't remember wrongly the direction he obtained from the native citizen on the corner. Maybe the native citizen didn't know the way, either. That thought won't help find the way, but it's something to tell the back-seat drivers.

KING WITHOUT CAPITAL

The Indochinese state of Viet-Nam now has an emperor, officially blessed by the French and granted by them a certain degree of discretion in internal affairs. But the emperor, Bao Dai, who once abdicated a similar throne, had to start his new reign outside his capital. The capital city of Hue, in Annam, has been in the hands of rebellious Nationalists who have installed a president, Ho Chi Minh, neither asking nor receiving the blessings of the French. Why did not the French make a deal with the Nationalists, who have control of the capital and a large piece of Indochina, instead of with a monarch who had once abdicated and fled? The obvious explanation seems to be that the Nationalists are not interested in expanding their territory under the supervision of the French, but primarily want to drive the French out of Indochina altogether.

WILL THE GENTLEMAN YIELD ?

Hence the expectation is for a continuance of strife between the Nationalists and the new Viet-Nam monarchy. One of the fears of the French is that there will be a juncture between the Nationalists of Indochina and the Communists of China, now moving southward toward the Indochina border. If that juncture should occur it probably would be described as a new victory for Communism. But in reality it would be only a new failure of Western colonial policy.

SHIP OR BOAT?

What is the difference between a ship and a boat? That question which frequently gets landluppers into trouble in vacation season or at other times when they may be exposed to life on the water. Call a salt-water seaman's ship a boat and you have really got his dander up.

In sailing days there was a clear-cut rule: A vessel with a bowsprit and three masts was a ship, anything less was a boat. With steamships and motorships there is no such easy rule. The sailor will tell you that any craft which can be carried aboard a ship is a boat. That's all very well if you can see the boat on the ship, but if a middle-sized boat carries a small boat, does it become a ship?

For the sake of landsmen, seamen should work this thing out.

15,000 MILES UP

It has just been revealed that atmosphere exists to a height of 15,000 miles above the surface of the earth. This knowledge, it now appears, previously was a jealously guarded military secret.

An intriguing item in the announcement is the statement that at an altitude of 10,000 miles the atmosphere, mostly hydrogen, is so thin that a hydrogen atom may travel for thousands of miles without colliding with another atom.

Most laymen have the idea that atoms are pretty well crowded together and are always bumping into each other, like pedestrians on a busy walk. If so much space is to be found at higher levels, perhaps we ought to find some way to take advantage of it.

FIRST UNIVERSE MAP

A map of the universe, showing half a billion stars, will be on sale four years from now, according to announcement from the California Institute of Technology. If rocket planes go in to operation, carrying passengers to the moon and the other planets, a map like this will be considered necessary.

There is one slight difficulty, however. The atlas of the universe will not be a few handy sheets, but will comprise 20 oversize volumes. The price is expected to be a mere $2,000.

RETURN OF THE UKE

Ukuleles are said to be on the way back, thanks largely to the popularity of New York's present musical comedy success, "South Pacific." A Pacific island musical drama would be inconceivable without the strumming notes of the ukulele.

Back in World War I days the ukulele trailed every one's footsteps in residence districts on summer evenings. Then about 1935 its popularity stopped, perhaps because of the growing appeal of more violent music. The uke ceased to be the constant companion of youth, and went into the limbo that contained those other once popular instruments, the banjo and the mandolin.

Neighbors would prefer it much if the members of the younger generation took advantage of the return of the ukulele, and serenaded their evening mates instead of summoning them by leaping on the car horn. The old Spanish custom would be an improvement over the modern one.

MORE ROAD DEATHS

A gloomy thought for the summer is that traffic deaths are ahead of last year. They are three per cent above for the corresponding period of 1948, reports the National Safety Council. And the bulk of summer motoring is yet to come.

Some of the increase is probably attributable to old cars on the roads, which would be scrapped if their owners could replace them without surrendering all their savings. Automobile manufacturers are not in business for their health, but one great contribution that they could make for safer driving would be a reduction in the prices of their cars.

Everyone who drives could make a contribution of a little more thoughtfulness and courtesy. Take a few more minutes to get where you're going, and you have a better chance of getting there.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS ADDED TO CORSICANA BY EDUCATION BOARD

Climaxing an all-day session, the County Board of Education Tuesday annexed several adjoining dormant school districts to Corsicana. Districts annexed were Angus, Benton, Oak Valley, Pickett, IOOF Home, most of Corbet and portions of Phillips' Chapel and Emhouse.

The action followed a resolution that all schools now served, or under contract by Corsicana be annexed to the local independent district. Board member G. E. Moore of Frost opposed the motion, contending that "adjustments" eventually will be necessary and that they should be made now before changing the district boundaries.

Annexations Made
County Surveyor W. V. Mowman was authorized to prepare a map of the new district boundaries as set by the county board.

Other annexations follow: Alliance Hall, Pecan, Carroll, Dresden and Raleigh, all annexed to Blooming Grove.

Griffin, Spring Hill, Pursey and McCandless, annexed to Dawson.

Navarro to Mildred; and Brushie to Frost; and Lookhart to Rice.

Annexation of Headquarters to Dawson was delayed pending location of a proposed boundary division.

All districts involved are "dormant" and were required to be annexed to active districts by July 8 under mandatory provisions of the Gilmer-Alkin legislation.

That portion of the Corbet district which was not annexed to Corsicana lies between Rush creek and Melton Branch. This part was annexed to Purdon.

The Phillips' Chapel area that became a part of Corsicana included that portion which is in the city's new city limits.

That part of the Emhouse district just west of and adjacent to Corsicana, including the area taken in by extension of the city limits, was annexed to Corsicana on recommendation of 85 petitioning citizens in the Emhouse district.

The new hospital site also was included in the annexation of IOOF Home.

Purdon and Griffin exchanged a small section of their districts, under the county board's action, as follows:

1. All that area in the Elizabeth

Scott survey lying south of Richland and Battle Creek was annexed to Griffin.

2. All that area in the H. M. Cook survey lying north and east of Battle Creek and south of Richland Creek, not now included in the Purdon district, was annexed to Purdon.

The most controversial part of the lengthy session involved Phillips' Chapel, which has been served mostly by Powell. Both Powell and Corsicana indicated desires to have all the dormant district, Corsicana's school board, and Supt. W. H. Norwood, had urged a half-and-half division of the area between Powell and Corsicana. But Powell accused Corsicana of "wanting all the gray" and leaving Powell the bottom-land and mud holes to serve.

Some Opposition
The Board's action to let Powell continue to serve most of the area, giving Corsicana only that part that is in the city limits, was opposed by Moore.

Informed of the board's action, Supt. Norwood indicated the local school administrators would not be satisfied.

"We don't like the idea of Powell bringing their school buses to our door steps and taking off our children," said Norwood.

Under the new setup, Powell will serve all of Phillips' Chapel except that portion inside Corsicana's city limits, thus bringing their boundary line to a location near the auction barn.

It was evident that certain adjustments will have to be made, especially to meet a transportation problem.

Board Chairman W. B. Payne of Pursey announced a called meeting of the board for 10 a. m. Friday.

Commission Takes Action Extending City Limits Under New Authority

Business completed by Corsicana's mayor and city commissioners Tuesday included the final reading of the resolution enlarging the city limits, action to open a farm-market square on city owned property, and the first reading of a new plumbing ordinance which will govern all future water and sewer installations.

The group unanimously passed the annexation ordinance which will increase Corsicana's population by approximately 7,500 persons. This action follows the results of the June 25 election when citizens voted 554 to 197 to enlarge the city limits and include areas outside the old limits. "This ordinance will be made effective upon publication."

Farm-Market
Commissioner Travis Fullwood brought up the matter of using city-owned property at East Highway and North Ninth street as a public farm-market square. This property was purchased by the city about a year ago for this purpose but no regulations had been set up for its use.

Mayor Hubert T. Braselton appointed Commissioners Fullwood and J. E. Davant as a committee to draw up rules and regulations for the use of the property and ordered them to proceed with plans to get the market in operation as soon as possible.

It was suggested by Commissioner Davant that farmers be charged 50 cents per day for permits to sell in the square or be allowed to purchase weekly permits for $2.50. It also was suggested the police department make periodic inspections of the square to see that all rules and regulations are obeyed.

Under tentative plans, farmers will be allowed to bring their produce to the square for sale after purchasing a permit.

Commissioner Fullwood said he hoped to have the square marked off and ready for business within a few days. He and Davant plan to iron out all details and have the square ready before the end of the week.

New Plumbing Ordinance
The first step in a plan to modernize the city's plumbing, electrical and building ordinances was taken when the commissioners unanimously approved the first reading of a new plumbing ordinance.

City Engineer Fred V. Blucher and City Attorney Julius Jacobs said the new code included regulations approved by the state and adopted by other Texas cities.

A letter objecting to the plumbing ordinance, written by Wilbur Wright, was read and placed on file.

One part of the new plumbing ordinance states that all buildings occupied by persons and which are within 150 feet of a sanitary sewer must install water closets within 30 days after adoption of the ordinance, unless such closets are now in the buildings.

The commissioners were informed that the electrical and building ordinances would be brought up to date in the near future.

All licensed plumbers will be supplied with a copy of the new ordinance after it becomes law, Blucher said.

Equalization Board
Mayor Braselton appointed Wade Smith, P. H. Loggins and Roy Harrison as the board of equalization. His appointments were approved by the commissioners. It was announced that former board members George W. Boyd and J. S. Murchison had resigned because of illness.

The commissioners approved a motion ordering Robert Lavender to prepare a map of the city which will include the newly annexed territories. Lavender will work under the direction of the city engineer and the mayor.

Low Lake Level
Commissioner Ed Rittersbacher reported on the "woody" taste in the city water and said it was caused by the low level of Lake Halbert and increased activity of the algae in the lake.

He added there was nothing harmful or injurious in the water; that the water is being purified and treated "as always, and that the filter beds were recently cleaned."

He said nothing further could be done to eliminate the taste until the lake level returns to near normal.

On motion of Commissioner Fullwood the salary of Jess A. Megarity, city sanitary supervisor, was increased from $175 to $200 per month.

It is totaling $13,404.99 were approved and ordered paid. Expenditures by departments were as follows:

Administrative, $1,241.71; sanitary, $854.61; fire, $98.87; police, $211.03; street lighting, $260.54; park, $19.80; streets, $3,427.20; water, $6,247.44; cemetery, $208.75; white elephant project, $1,000.00; Raps, $104.80; playground and recreation, $255.85; and municipal airport, $563.39.

Monthly Reports
The following monthly reports were read and acted upon:

Basil L. Herod on typhus control, rat proofing and rat eradication. Glen Cumble, manager of the white and colored FPHIA and municipal airport, reported rent collections of $692.84 from the white FPHIA, $35 from the colored FPHIA, and airport collections of $438.38.

Fire Chief Howard Bivins reported there were 13 fire alarms answered during June which resulted in $2,500 property damage. E. A. Bunch, city sexton, reported collections of $744.25 for lots sold and graves opened in Oakwood cemetery.

Police Chief Bruce Nutt reported fines collected of $1,053, and Clay Nash, recorder of the Corporation court reported the handling of 198 cases which brought in fines of $1,051. His report also showed parking meter collections of $1,797.38.

Play Return Tilt In Title Series Here On Friday

The Corsicana American Legion baseballers lost the first game of their district title series with the Waxahachie Legion Wednesday afternoon, by a 12-3 margin.

Waxahachie took a 3-run lead in the third inning, and was ahead from there on out.

Charles Rabe, starting Waxahachie hurler, limited Corsicana to four hits in his six-inning stint, and was replaced by Foster, who held the Corsicans to three hits in the remainder of the game.

Bond Starts
Three Corsicana pitchers saw action. Walter Bond started, went five and gave up 4 hits before he was pulled for Roger Perona. Perona pitched the sixth inning, allowed two hits and retired in favor of Leon Hull, who pitched the seventh and eighth.

Errors hurt Coach Coach Holland's crew, but they also lacked a scoring punch when the runs came. No less than three Corsicana batters died on the basepaths.

Corsicana committed 8 miscues during the contest, part of which was probably due to the fact that rain had prevented practice here for four days prior to the contest.

Waxahachie comes to Corsicana Friday afternoon for the second game of the 2-out-of-3 series for the district championship. Should Waxahachie win this one, it will capture the loop for the district title.

The game will be played at Terrell Park beginning at 4 p. m. Admission is 40 and 20 cents.
